President receives first copy of book 'The Education President'

New Delhi, June 8
The President, Shri Pranab Mukherjee received the first copy of a book titled "The Education President" today (June 8, 2016) at a function held in Rashtrapati Bhavan. He received the book from Vice President, Shri Mohammad Hamid Ansari who formally released it.

The book published by the International Institute for Higher Education Research & Capacity Building, OP Jindal Global University highlights President Mukherjee's contribution to the field of higher education as Visitor to 116 institutions of higher learning in India.

Speaking on the occasion, the President said it was the contradiction between our aspirations to occupy a place at the high table of the comity of nations and the reality of higher education in the country that motivated him to draw attention to the need to improve quality of higher education in the country. The President said India has a large higher education network comprising 757 universities and over 38,000 colleges. However, issues relating to quality and excellence are one of the biggest challenges, yet to be a d d r e s s e d comprehensively. We must keep up with our own past. India could boast of having universities like Nalanda, Takshashila, Vikramashila, Valabhi, Somapura and Odantapuri, which were global leaders in various times between the sixth century BC and twelfth century AD. Students and teachers from around the world attended these institutions. Today, in the absence of adequate number of good quality educational institutions, around 2 lakh students go overseas to study.
