Samudra Manthan – National Offshore Exploration Scheme

India's future hydrocarbon potential lies largely in deepwater and ultra-deepwater basins such as Krishna-Godavari, Cauvery, Mahanadi and the Andaman region

New Delhi, Aug. 3 (PIB)

The Union Cabinet, chaired by Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, has approved "Samudra Manthan" the National Offshore Exploration Scheme, a Central Sector Scheme of the Ministry of Petroleum & Natural Gas carrying an approved outlay of Rs. 84,084 crore for implementation through FY 2030-31. It is India's most ambitious offshore exploration mission to date.

This approval marks the culmination of a series of transformative reforms undertaken under the leadership of the Hon'ble Prime Minister to strengthen India's hydrocarbon exploration and production sector.

The National Offshore Exploration Scheme, Samudra Manthan, builds upon these reforms by translating policy into action and opening a new chapter in India's journey towards energy security and Atmanirbhar Bharat.

India is the world's third-largest consumer of crude oil, with an annual import bill of nearly USD 144 billion (approximately Rs. 13 lakh crore). As recent geopolitical developments have demonstrated, secure and uninterrupted access to energy resources is of strategic importance for a rapidly growing economy.

With India's energy demand expected to rise steadily in the coming decades, enhancing domestic oil and gas production is essential for reducing import dependence, strengthening energy resilience, and securing the nation's long-term economic growth.

Advanced Seismic Surveys Unlock India's Offshore Potential

Since 2014, the Government has undertaken a series of structural reforms over the past few years to create an enabling ecosystem for hydrocarbon exploration and production:

- ♦ Opening Up Offshore Acreage: More than 99% of the earlier "No-Go" areas have been removed, making over one million square kilometres of India's Exclusive Economic Zone available for exploration for the first time.
- ♦ Modernising the Contractual Regime: India transitioned from Production Sharing Contracts to Revenue Sharing Contracts, simplifying the fiscal framework and improving transparency while reducing administrative intervention.
- ♦ Legislative Reforms: The Oilfields (Regulation and Development) Amendment Act, 2025 modernised the legal framework governing the sector by providing contractual stability, recognising integrated petroleum operations, strengthening dispute resolution mechanisms, and establishing a contemporary regulatory architecture.
- ♦ Implementation Through New Rules: The Petroleum and Natural Gas Rules, 2025 operationalised these reforms by promoting ease of doing business, improving regulatory efficiency, and streamlining the administration of petroleum leases.
- ♦ Uniform Decision-Making Framework: The Government has also standardised the composition and mandate of the Empowered Committee of Secretaries across all contract regimes, ensuring consistency and a level playing field for all operators, irrespective of when their contracts were signed.
- ♦ Sharper Focus on Exploration: The performance parameters of ONGC and Oil India have been reoriented to place greater emphasis on exploration activities, reinforcing the Government's commitment to expanding India's domestic hydrocarbon resource base.

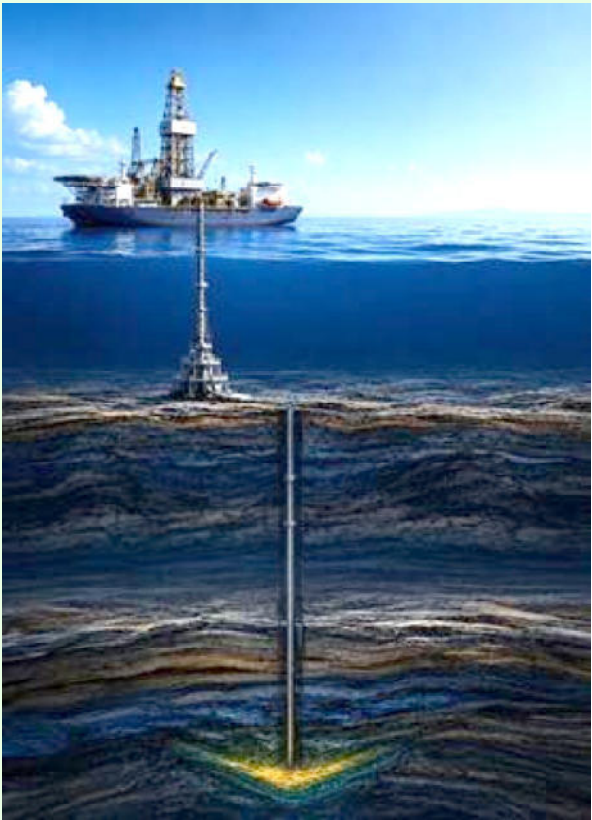

Hydrocarbon exploration is a capital-intensive and long-gestation activity, with a typical period of 5-10 years from the award of an exploration block to the commencement of commercial production. This underscores the need for sustained exploration to meet India's growing energy demand.

Further, existing oil and gas fields witness a natural production decline of around 6-7% every year, making continuous exploration and new discoveries essential to sustain domestic hydrocarbon production.

To address these challenges, the Government has reoriented policy towards exploration-led growth. Under the National Offshore Exploration Scheme "Samudra Manthan" the Government will provide financial support of up to 50% of the cost of drilling deepwater exploration wells, thereby reducing exploration risk, encouraging investment, and accelerating the development of India's offshore hydrocarbon potential.

India's future hydrocarbon potential lies largely in deepwater and ultra-deepwater basins such as Krishna-Godavari, Cauvery, Mahanadi and the Andaman region. Exploration in these frontier areas requires advanced technology and significant investment, with a single deepwater exploratory well costing approximately USD 125-150 million. Recognising the high-risk, high-cost nature of such exploration, the Government is adopting a risk-sharing approach to encourage sustained investment, accelerate exploration, and unlock India's offshore hydrocarbon resources.

Accelerating Deepwater & Ultra-Deepwater Exploration

Samudra Manthan is therefore proposed as a strategic national intervention to de-risk offshore exploration, catalyse private investment, strengthen domestic production and build enduring national capability across the offshore exploration and production value chain.

The National Offshore Exploration Scheme "Samudra Manthan" marks the transition from policy reforms to mission-mode implementation. Approved as a Central Sector Scheme with a Phase-I outlay of Rs. 84,084 crore up to 31st March 2031, the scheme adopts an integrated approach to accelerate offshore hydrocarbon exploration and production.

A total of 17 animals were examined. Three repeat breeding cases, one case of silent heat with under developed genitalia and one silent heat case were detected. The repeat breeders were treated with Ivermectin, Tonophosphan and Cyclomin. To improve the success of Artificial Insemination, six scrub bulls were castrated. Deworming was carried out on 27 cattle and 28 goats, while anti-tick medication was administered to four cattle. Livestock owners were also briefed about the benefits of Sex Sorted Semen (SSS).
