Inaugural Little Andaman Pro to kick off India's surfing season as Asian Games debut beckons

Surfing Federation of India (SFI), the governing body for the sport of surfing in India, announced India's 2026 surfing season opener, Little Andaman Pro 2026 - National Surf & SUP Championship, scheduled from April 9-12. According to a release, The Little Andaman Pro 2026 will debut in a highly anticipated season of Indian surfing just ahead of India's first-ever campaign at the Asian Games 2026 in Japan later this year.

The four-day surfing extravaganza will see India's top surfers and stand-up paddlers vying for the top honours at the stunning Butler Bay Beach in the Andaman Islands, bringing competitive surfing to one of the country's most pristine and untapped coastal destinations for the very first time.

Presented by Andaman and Nicobar Tourism and organised by Surfing Federation of India, the event will bring together top surfers from across the country to compete in the Senior Division across Surfing and Stand-Up Paddle (SUP) disciplines, with registrations already underway for the event. The TT group has come on board as the official sponsor for the Surfing Federation of India.

The event assumes added significance in what is a breakthrough year for Indian surfing. The country secured its first-ever Asian Games quota at the 2024 Asian Surfing Championships and built on that momentum at the 2025 edition in Mahabalipuram, ultimately securing the maximum allocation of four slots, two each in the men's and women's categories for the 2026 Asian Games in Aichi-Nagoya, Japan.

"This is a landmark moment for Indian surfing. As we stare at India's surfing debut at the Asian Games later this year, starting the national season at a world-class location like Little Andaman speaks loudly about our intent to take the sport deep into our coast-rich country. We are constantly working to give more competition time to our talented athletes across diverse conditions, which is critical for their growth at the international level. Surfing is a community driven sports and as we expand our reach to the Andaman's, we want to create opportunities for local communities, nurture young talent, and position India as a serious contender in global surfing", said Arun Vasu, President Surfing Federation of India. Vasu further added, "The progress of Indian surfers on the international stage has been extremely encouraging. From securing our first Asian Games quotas to winning medals at continental championships, we are seeing the results of sustained grassroots development and structured competition."

The Little Andaman Pro 2026 will take place at Butler Bay, widely regarded as one of India's most promising surf locations. Unlike many mainland beach breaks, the reef break at Butler Bay produces long, clean waves that allow surfers to execute more technical manoeuvres and extended rides, making it ideal for high-performance competition.

For many Indian surfers who typically train on beach breaks, competing in reef conditions presents a valuable opportunity to enhance technical skills and broaden competitive experience. Events like this play a critical role in strengthening the national talent pipeline and preparing athletes for international challenges.

Beyond competition, the championship also aims to highlight the Andaman and Nicobar Islands as a future hub for surfing and ocean sports in India. With its clear waters, coral reefs, and consistent swell patterns, Little

MESSAGE

On the auspicious occasion of the 63rd National Maritime Day, I extend my warm greetings and best wishes to all seafarers, maritime professionals, and stakeholders of the maritime sector.

This year's theme, "Maritime India - Empowering Progress," aptly underscores the transformative role of the maritime domain in propelling national growth, strengthening trade linkages, and fostering global partnerships. The A & N Islands, by virtue of their unique geographic location, hold a position of strategic significance in India's maritime landscape. Our rich seafaring heritage, complemented by inherent geographical advantages, places us at the vanguard of initiatives advancing sustainable development, blue economy, and maritime security.

The maritime sector has long served as the cornerstone of trade and commerce and continues to advance through innovation in technology, modern infrastructure, and a growing emphasis on environmental sustainability. It is indeed heartening to witness India's steady emergence as a leading global maritime hub, driven by visionary policies and the steadfast dedication of our seafarers and maritime workforce.

On this important occasion, let us reaffirm our collective commitment to fostering innovation, enhancing maritime capabilities, and ensuring the safety, dignity, and welfare of our seafarers. I call upon all stakeholders to work in close coordination towards realizing the vision of a resilient, sustainable, and future-ready maritime India.

Once again express my sincere appreciation to all those who contribute tirelessly to this vital sector. May this day inspire renewed resolve, pride, and excellence in our maritime pursuits.

MESSAGE

As we celebrate the 63rd National Maritime Day on 5th April 2026, I extend my warm greetings and sincere best wishes to all seafarers, maritime professionals, and stakeholders.

This year's theme, "Maritime India - Empowering Progress," highlights the immense contribution of the maritime sector in strengthening India's economy, enhancing global trade, and ensuring national security. For the Andaman & Nicobar Islands, maritime connectivity is the lifeline that sustains our economy, supports livelihoods, and links our islands with the mainland and the world.

Our islands occupy a strategically significant position in the Indian Ocean, offering vast opportunities for the development of ports, shipping, fisheries, tourism, and the blue economy. It is imperative that we continue to harness this potential in a sustainable and inclusive manner, while preserving our rich marine biodiversity.

On this important day, I pay tribute to the dedication, courage, and resilience of our seafarers and maritime workforce, whose relentless efforts ensure safe and efficient maritime operations under challenging conditions.

I wish everyone a meaningful and inspiring National Maritime Day.

MESSAGE

As we mark the 63rd National Maritime Day on 5th April 2026, I am pleased to convey my warm greetings and best wishes to all seafarers, maritime professionals, and stakeholders of the shipping sector. The chosen theme for this year, "Maritime India - Empowering Progress," beautifully captures the maritime domain's pivotal contribution to accelerating economic growth, deepening connectivity, and championing sustainable development.

For the Andaman & Nicobar Islands, shipping services represent the lifeline of inter-island connectivity, indispensable for the transport of passengers, goods, and essential commodities. The Shipping Department of the A&N Administration remains unwavering in its mission to enhance maritime infrastructure, upgrade fleet operations, and ensure the highest standards of safety, reliability, and efficiency in shipping services across our islands.

On this important day, I express my deep appreciation for the dedication and professionalism of our seafarers, marine engineers, port workers, and all personnel who work tirelessly to keep our maritime services running smoothly, often under challenging conditions.

Let us renew our commitment to strengthening maritime capabilities, improving service delivery, and contributing to the vision of a progressive and resilient maritime India.

I wish all concerned a successful and inspiring National Maritime Day.

Andaman is increasingly attracting attention from surfers and adventure tourism stakeholders alike. The initiative is expected to inspire local youth participation while contributing to sustainable development through sport.

Over the past few years, Indian surfers have steadily improved their presence on the international stage. The national team registered its first-ever team silver at the Asian Surfing Championships, alongside multiple deep runs, including semi-final and quarter-final finishes, highlighting the country's growing competitiveness against established Asian surfing nations.

The Surfing Federation of India has also unveiled an expanded 2026 Annual Competition Calendar for Surf and Stand-Up Paddle (SUP), featuring more events across the country than ever before.

The national circuit will span multiple stops through the year, beginning with early-season competitions such as the Mumbai SUP Championship in January, followed by key national events from April onwards, including stops in Little Andaman, traditional surf hubs like Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, and additional legs scheduled across mid-year and post-monsoon windows, ensuring consistent competitive exposure for athletes.

Adding to the excitement, 2026 will also mark the debut of the Longboarding Division in the national competition circuit, creating opportunities for athletes who specialise in classic surfing styles and traditional wave riding techniques.

The Little Andaman Pro 2026 aims to celebrate the spirit of surfing while promoting responsible tourism and environmental awareness, aligning with the region's strong conservation ethos. (Source: <https://www.tribuneindia.com/>)
