50 MW LNG-Based Power Project at Hopetown enters implementation phase

Project is scheduled to be commissioned within 28 months from date of award of EPC Package

Sri Vijaya Puram, Sept. 9 The Electricity Department, Andaman & Nicobar Administration, has informed that the long envisaged 50 MW LNG based power project at Hope Town, Sri Vijaya Puram has achieved a significant milestone by entering the implementation phase. Following the signing of the Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) between NTPC Limited and the Andaman & Nicobar Administration on 21.07.2026, NTPC Vidyut Vyapar Nigam Limited (NVVN), the project implementation agency, has issued the Letter of Award (LoA) on 28.08.2026 for both the Engineering, Procurement & Construction (EPC) Package as well as the Civil Package, thereby paving the way for commencement of execution of the project.

The project is scheduled to be commissioned within 28 months from the date of award of the EPC Package. Once operational, the LNG-based power plant is expected to substantially enhance the reliability, efficiency and sustainability of power supply in South Andaman by replacing a significant portion of diesel-based generation with cleaner and more economical LNG-based generation. The project is also expected to reduce the cost of power generation and ensure long-term energy security for the islands. The Electricity Department, A & N Administration has conveyed its gratitude to the Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Power, NTPC Vidyut Vyapar Nigam Limited (NVVN), Indian Oil Corporation Limited (IOCL) and all other stakeholders whose continued guidance, support and coordinated efforts enabling this prestigious project to progress from planning to implementation. The Department remains committed to extending all necessary support for the timely completion and commissioning of the project, a press release from Electricity Deptt. said.

Training programme on 'Value Added Product Development from Seafood' by Fisheries Deptt. concludes

Sri Vijaya Puram, Sept. 9

The three-days training programme on 'Value Added Product Development from Seafood', organized under the Climate Resilient Coastal Fishermen Villages (CRCFV) of Pradhan Mantri Matsya Sampada Yojana (PMMSY) by the Department of Fisheries, A&N Administration, in technical collaboration with the National Institute of Fisheries Post Harvest Technology and Training (NIFPHATT), Cochin, concluded today Fish Landing Centre (FLC), Panighat.

During the three-day programme, participants received intensive technical and hands-on training on the preparation and development of 10 different value-added seafood products, including breaded and battered seafood products, fish pickles, fried fish products and different varieties of fish-based curries. The sessions covered various aspects of product preparation, processing techniques, hygienic handling, quality assurance, preservation and appropriate post-harvest practices.

The technical sessions and practical demonstrations were conducted by Dr. Nithin C. T., Processing-cum-Quality Assurance Supervisor, and Shri Bineesh K. Mukundan, Processing-cum-Quality Assurance Supervisor, NIFPHATT, Cochin. The resource persons provided detailed guidance and hands-on training to the participants, enabling them to gain practical exposure to the preparation, processing and value addition of seafood products.

A total of 25 participants attended the training programme. On completion of the training programme, certificates were distributed by Smti. Rasheeda Bibi, Pradhan, Hope Town and B Laxminarayan, Panchayt Samiti Member, Hope Town to all the participants in recognition of their successful participation in the three-day training programme.

A notable outcome of the training was the expression of interest by five participants to establish their own seafood value-addition units. The participants stated that the practical knowledge and hands-on skills acquired during the training had increased their confidence and motivated them to explore entrepreneurship opportunities in seafood processing.

The participants expressed their appreciation to the Department of Fisheries, A&N Administration and NIFPHATT, Cochin for organizing the specialized hands-on training, a press release from Zonal Fisheries Office, South Andaman said.

A&N Administration appeals to.....

Administration is continuously monitoring the situation and taking necessary measures to maintain drinking-water supply, water is a shared and finite resource and its conservation requires active participation of every household, institution and commercial establishment. Even small changes in daily habits can collectively result in substantial savings.

The Administration therefore appeals to all residents to follow simple water-saving practices:

- ◆ Avoid leaving taps running while brushing, washing utensils or carrying out household chores.
- ◆ Repair leaking taps, pipes, overhead tanks and plumbing fixtures immediately.
- ◆ Avoid overflowing of overhead water tanks; wherever possible, use automatic cut-off/float valves.
- ◆ Use buckets instead of running hoses for washing vehicles and outdoor areas.
- ◆ Avoid using potable water for unnecessary washing of courtyards, driveways and open spaces.
- ◆ Reuse water from washing vegetables and other suitable household activities for gardening and cleaning.
- ◆ Harvest and store rainwater wherever feasible for non-potable purposes.
- ◆ Hotels, institutions, offices, commercial establishments and housing societies are requested to periodically check their internal water systems for leakages and avoid excessive consumption.
- ◆ Any leakage or avoidable wastage noticed in the public water-supply network may be promptly brought to the notice of the concerned APWD (03192-251185 or 18003451666) and SVPMC (03192-231179) authorities.

The Administration is simultaneously taking measures for augmentation of water sources, improvement of storage, reduction of distribution losses and strengthening of long-term water security across the Islands. However, infrastructure augmentation needs to be complemented by responsible consumption.

The citizens of the Islands are therefore requested to make water conservation a regular habit rather than a measure adopted only during periods of scarcity. Every litre saved today contributes towards ensuring adequate water availability for the community tomorrow. The Administration seeks the cooperation of all Islanders in ensuring responsible, equitable and sustainable use of this precious resource, a press release from APWD said.
