Andaman has immense potential for economic and tourism development: Hon'ble Lieutenant Governor, Dr. Dinesh Sharma

A&N Islands to become the Centre of India's economic growth

International flights may be introduced to boost tourism

Lucknow/Sri Vijaya Puram, Nov. 10

The Hon'ble Lieutenant Governor of Andaman and Nicobar Islands and former Rajya Sabha Member of Parliament and former Deputy Chief Minister, Dr. Dinesh Sharma, said that the Islands possess immense potential for economic and tourism development. Blessed with natural beauty, Andaman holds considerable strategic importance for the country. In the coming years, it is set to become a centre of India's economic growth. The British had turned it into 'Kala Pani', but today, it is like 'Amrit Pani' for the nation.

The Hon'ble Lieutenant Governor said that out of the 836 islands in this group, only 31 are inhabited, while the remaining islands are blessed with natural beauty and there are immense possibilities from the tourism perspective. The beaches of A&N Islands are among the most beautiful beaches in the world. The blue waters of the sea and the surrounding greenery present a magnificent natural spectacle that remains etched in one's mind and heart forever. International flights from the Islands may be introduced in the future to promote tourism. In December, representatives from 10 Asian countries have been invited to A&N Islands for discussions. The number of flights has also been increased.

Dr. Sharma said that along with tourism development, efforts are also being initiated to make Andaman a preferred destination for weddings. Cultural activities are to be promoted to attract more tourists. The Light and Sound Show at Cellular Jail narrates such stories of freedom fighters that the eyes of the viewers become moist. An action plan is being developed to attract foreign tourists, giving wings to international tourism. The process of granting permissions for water sports and day tourism has been digitized. Birdwatching and caravan tourism have also been encouraged.

He said that owing to the geographical distance of these Islands from the mainland, the British had used them as a place to isolate Indian revolutionaries from the mainstream of the freedom struggle. Penal settlements and prisons were established in A&N Islands, where revolutionaries were sent to serve their sentences and subjected to severe torture. The prison was designed in such a manner that even inmates in adjacent cells could not know about each other. Veer Savarkar and his brother were imprisoned in Cellular Jail at the same time but could not meet each other. The torture was so brutal that prisoners were flogged even for minor reasons. Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose unfurled the Indian Tricolour in Andaman and sounded the clarion call for freedom.

Nicobar Port to be developed on the lines of the Strait of Hormuz

Britishers' Kala Pani to become the Nation's Amrit Pani

He further stated that emphasis is being laid on developing infrastructure to promote tourism. Under this initiative, the use of solar energy is being encouraged to make tourism infrastructure green by 2047. New airports are being developed. There is a plan to develop the port on the lines of the Strait of Hormuz. It will be an island around which an entire economic cycle will revolve.

He said that along with the pace of development, due attention is also being paid to the protection of tribal communities. Maintaining climate balance and creating new employment opportunities are also among the priorities. Efforts are being undertaken to promote fisheries and strengthen healthcare services. Andaman also reflects the diversity of India. People belonging to different castes, religions, communities and States residing in A&N Islands are contributing towards strengthening the nation.

On this occasion, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Lucknow, Professor J.P. Saini Ji; Dean, Faculty of Commerce, Prof. Archana Singh; Head, Department of Commerce, Prof. Audhesh Kumar; former Head of the Department, Dr. Ram Milan; Professor Rajiv Maheshwari; Dr. Anoop Singh; Dr. Vimal Jaiswal and others were present, a press release from Lok Niwas said.

Island fisheries at the centre of India's Blue Economy push

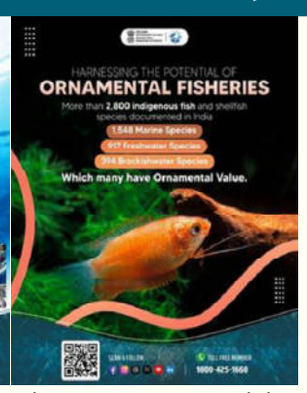

Lakshadweep and A&N Islands to anchor growth in tuna, seaweed and ornamental fisheries

New Delhi, Nov. 10 (PIB)

India is endowed with a vast and diverse marine resource base, supported by a coastline of approximately 11,099 km and an Exclusive Economic Zone of nearly 24 lakh sq. km. With an estimated marine fisheries potential of 58.6 lakh MT within its EEZ, the sector plays a vital role in sustaining the livelihoods of nearly 50 lakh fishers, while contributing significantly to food security, nutrition, employment, income generation and export earnings. India today ranks among the leading fisheries and aquaculture producing nations globally, with seafood exports valued at around Rs.73,890 crore during FY 2025-26, underscoring the sector's growing importance in the national economy and global seafood trade. India's fisheries sector is evolving from a production-focused activity into a dynamic, technology-driven and value-oriented pillar of the national economy. Since 2015, the Government of India has significantly stepped-up public investment in the fisheries sector, committing Rs. 39,272 crore through key schemes and programmes.

Under PMMSY, substantial investments have been envisaged for the island territories to strengthen fisheries development. Andaman & Nicobar Islands have been allocated an investment of Rs. 218 crore, while Lakshadweep has been earmarked Rs. 175 crore, reflecting the Government's commitment to unlocking the fisheries potential of these strategically important maritime regions.

This focus on island-led fisheries development was also reflected in the Union Budget 2025-26, which outlined an enabling framework for the sustainable harnessing of fisheries resources from the Exclusive Economic Zone and the High Seas, with special emphasis on Lakshadweep and the Andaman & Nicobar Islands. The emphasis marks a clear recognition of the strategic importance of these island territories in accessing underutilised marine fish resources within the Indian EEZ and adjacent High Seas, while placing sustainability and scientific management at the centre of future expansion.

Lakshadweep and the Andaman & Nicobar Islands occupy a distinctive position in India's marine geography. Together accounting for nearly 40% of the country's Exclusive Economic Zone, the two island groups extend India's presence across the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal, with access to rich oceanic fishing grounds and major tuna migration routes. Lakshadweep's lagoon systems, coral reefs and surrounding deep-sea waters offer favourable conditions for tuna fisheries, seaweed cultivation and reef-based livelihoods. The Andaman & Nicobar Islands, with their extensive coastline, diverse marine habitats and proximity to Southeast Asian maritime routes, provide similar opportunities for expanding sustainable fisheries, mariculture and value-added seafood production. Their ecological richness and strategic location make these islands central to India's efforts to build a more diversified and ocean-based fisheries economy.

Tuna has emerged as the centrepiece of the Government's strategic roadmap for high-value marine fisheries. The waters surrounding Lakshadweep and the Andaman & Nicobar Islands harbour substantial underutilised stocks of Yellowfin, Skipjack and Bigeye tuna, offering strong potential for sustainable, export-oriented fisheries. The Government is advancing a science-based and value-chain driven approach that integrates modern deep-sea vessels, selective fishing methods such as hook and line and pole and line, improved onboard handling, cold-chain expansion, processing and canning facilities, and efficient export linkages. In Lakshadweep, a five-year plan seeks to double tuna production to 50,000 tonnes, supported by the induction of deep-sea vessels, mother vessels and the islands' traditional, ecologically sound pole and line fishery. In the Andaman & Nicobar Islands, a dedicated Tuna Cluster under PMMSY is accelerating fleet modernisation and infrastructure development, including new vessels, upgraded fishing fleets and expanded cold storage capacity, while MPEDA's strengthened presence is expected to improve market access and facilitate direct exports from the islands.

Beyond Tuna value chain development, the Government is also advancing seaweed and ornamental fisheries as complementary pillars of the island economy, broadening the fisheries growth model beyond capture fisheries alone. Lakshadweep's clean lagoon systems and the coral-rich ecosystems of the Andaman & Nicobar Islands offer favourable conditions for sustainable seaweed cultivation, with potential applications across food, nutraceuticals, cosmetics, pharmaceuticals and bio-industrial products. With Lakshadweep notified as a dedicated Seaweed Cluster, the roadmap envisages large-scale cultivation, seed banks, hatcheries and capacity building to develop a reliable seaweed value chain. Ornamental fisheries add another high-value opportunity, particularly in Lakshadweep, which hosts over 300 reef-associated ornamental species. The strategic plan focuses on establishing medium-scale rearing units, promoting conservation-based and regulated collection practices, and improving market access for sustainably sourced aquarium species, thereby creating diversified livelihood opportunities for island communities while safeguarding fragile marine ecosystems.

To enable these emerging areas of growth, modernising fisheries infrastructure has become a key element of the Government's approach in the island territories. Investments are being channelled into facilities across the value chain, including fish landing centres, ice plants, cold-chain networks, onboard preservation systems, fish aggregating devices, boat-building yards, value-addition units and systems to support export facilitation. These measures are intended to build local capacity, reduce post-harvest losses and improve the readiness of island-based fisheries to access domestic and export markets.

Taken together, these interventions indicate a long-term effort to place India's island territories at the centre of a more diversified and sustainable marine economy. By linking tuna fisheries, seaweed cultivation, ornamental fisheries, infrastructure development, research support and market access, the strategy seeks to move beyond resource extraction towards value creation within the islands. Its success will depend on balancing production growth with ecological safeguards, while ensuring that fishers, local enterprises and island communities are able to participate meaningfully in emerging domestic and export value chains.

Strict action against vehicles found without functional Speed Limiters & Tracking Devices

Sri Vijaya Puram, Nov. 10

The Government of India, under Rule 118 of the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, has mandated the installation of Speed Limiting Devices (SLDs) in specified categories of transport vehicles. These devices help prevent vehicles from exceeding the prescribed maximum speed and thereby contribute to road safety. As prescribed under the said Rule, the maximum preset speed is 80 km/h for notified transport vehicles i.e. Goods and Passenger Carrying Vehicles, subject to the applicable exemptions to Two/Three Wheelers Quadricycles, Fire Tenders, Ambulances, Police Vehicles, while a maximum preset speed of 60 km/h applies to specified categories, including dumpers, tankers, school buses, vehicles carrying hazardous goods and the other vehicle categories specifically covered under the Rule. Vehicle owners and operators must ensure that the correct device and prescribed speed setting are maintained for their respective vehicle category.

It has, however, been observed that certain vehicle owners and operators remove, disconnect or tamper with Speed Limiting Devices after obtaining a fitness certificate. Such practices defeat the purpose of this mandatory safety requirement and render the vehicle non-compliant with the applicable statutory provisions. Under Section 56 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, a transport vehicle must continue to satisfy the applicable requirements of the Act and the rules made thereunder to remain fit for use. Where a vehicle ceases to comply with these requirements, action relating to its fitness certificate may be taken by the prescribed authority in accordance with the applicable statutory procedure. Contraventions will also attract penalties under the relevant provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, including Section 177A, wherever applicable.

Similarly, Rule 125H of the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, mandates the installation of a Vehicle Location Tracking Device (VLTD) and one or more emergency buttons in eligible public service vehicles, subject to the exemptions specified in the Rule. These include eligible buses, motor cabs, maxi cabs, luxury cabs, omni buses, private service vehicles, Taxis and other vehicles falling within the definition of a public service vehicle under Section 2(35) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, wherever covered by the said Rule. The prescribed exemptions include two-wheelers, e-rickshaws, three-wheelers and transport vehicles for which no permit is required under the Act. The devices must conform to the applicable standards and remain properly installed, activated and functional. Their removal, disconnection, tampering with or disabling after obtaining a fitness certificate or permit defeats the objective of passenger safety and may invite enforcement action.

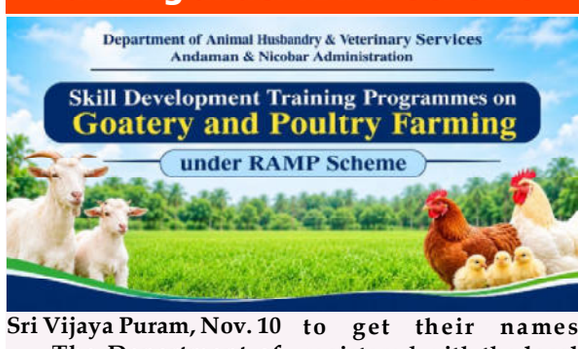

In this regard, the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, in S. Rajaseekaran v. Union of India, vide order dated 13.05.2026, directed all States and Union Territories to strictly enforce Rule 125H and Rule 118 of the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, by ensuring the installation of VLTDs and emergency buttons in new and existing eligible public service vehicles in a time-bound and verifiable manner.

The Transport Department is undertaking enforcement measures to identify vehicles that do not comply with these requirements. Inspections and verification would be carried out during fitness testing and other enforcement activities. Vehicles found to be non-compliant would be subjected to appropriate action under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989 and the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, including action relating to fitness certificates and permits. Applicable penalties and other legal consequences may also follow, depending on the nature of the contravention and the relevant statutory provisions.

All owners and operators of commercial vehicles, particularly those operating eligible public service vehicles/Commercial Vehicles, are hereby advised to refrain from removing, disconnecting, tampering with or disabling any mandatory Speed Limiting Device, Vehicle Location Tracking Device or emergency button. Any defective device must be repaired or replaced promptly through the appropriate authorized agency. Obtaining a fitness certificate or permit does not authorize the subsequent removal or disabling of a mandatory device. Failure to comply may invite necessary action by the competent authority, including applicable penalties and action relating to fitness certificates or permits, in accordance with law and the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

The general public is also informed that the Transport Department, Andaman & Nicobar Administration, is actively undertaking enforcement and verification measures to ensure compliance with these statutory requirements to ensure road safety. These measures are aimed at preventing overspeeding, improving passenger safety, facilitating emergency response and ensuring effective vehicle monitoring across the Andaman & Nicobar Islands. Members of the public are requested to cooperate with the Department in this road-safety initiative, a press release from Transport Department said.
