Mann Ki Baat: PM says.... (Contd. from page 1)

Jyoti, is a symbol of the nation's gratitude to those who made the supreme sacrifice after the country gained Independence. Mr Modi expressed hope that for the countrymen a visit to the Memorial will be akin to a pilgrimage to a holy place, where people will throng, to get information on the great martyrs, to express their gratitude and to conduct further research on them. Citing a letter sent by a listener who said that on the 3rd of March, 1900, the British arrested Birsu Munda, Mr Modi said, Bhagwan Birsu Munda not only waged a struggle against the British for political freedom but he also actively fought for the social and economic rights of the tribal folk. He said, Birsu Munda sacrificed his life at the tender age of 25 and illustrious sons of Mother India, such as Birsu Munda have come into being in each and every part of the country. Remembering Jamsetji Tata, whose birth anniversary is to be celebrated on 3rd of next month, the Prime Minister said, Jamsetji Tata was a true visionary, who not only foresaw India's future, but also duly laid strong foundations. Mr Modi also recalled the contribution of former Prime Minister Morarji Desai who was born on 29th of February. He said, Morarji Desai steered the course of the country through some difficult times, when the very democratic fabric was under threat. The Prime Minister said, to save democracy, Morarji Desai flung himself in the movement against imposition of Emergency. Highlighting the achievements of Padma awardees, Mr Modi said, the country is honouring those who are doing their work at the grass-root level without any care for a reward. They, by their diligence, are powering positive changes in the lives of others in myriad ways. The Prime Minister mentioned about Odisha's Daitari Nayak, who chiselled through the mountain literally with his hands and carved a three kilometres long canal in his village and put to rest forever the problem of irrigation. Mr Modi also mentioned Abdul Ghafoor Khatri of Gujarat, who has done an amazing job of reviving the traditional Rogan painting form of Kutch. The Prime Minister added that it has perhaps happened for the first time that in the roll of Padma awards bestowed this year, 12 farmers have been the recipients. He also highlighted the success of the Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana scheme under Ayushman Bharat's umbrella. Mr Modi said, about 12 lakh impoverished families have benefited from the scheme over the last five months. He added that it brings about a transformation in the life of the have-nots.

PM launches.... (Contd. from page 1)

Minister said that through this scheme, Rs. 75,000 crore will be transferred to farmers' accounts every year. He urged State Governments to send the lists of beneficiary farmers to the Union Government at the earliest, so that farmers can receive the benefit of this scheme in time. The Prime Minister said that while the loan waivers announced periodically by earlier Governments, did not provide long term or comprehensive relief to the farmers, PM-KISAN will not only provide them relief, but will also mark a massive investment in the rural economy. The Prime Minister said that PM-KISAN depends on direct transfer, and therefore the entire amount will reach the beneficiary. He said that the Government is also investing about one lakh crore rupees to complete long pending irrigation projects, which will be of great and lasting help to farmers in many parts of the country. He also mentioned the 17 crore soil health cards, neem coating of urea, MSP for 22 crops at 50 percent above the cost price, PM Fasal Bima Yojana, and the e-NAM platform. The Prime Minister said that farmers can now avail credit upto Rs. 1.60 lakh, through Kisan Credit Cards. He also touched upon other welfare schemes for the benefit of farmers. The Prime Minister said that the entire region of Eastern Uttar Pradesh is undergoing rapid transformation. Industry, Connectivity and the Health sector are all witness to this change, he added. He also said that about 10,000 crore rupees worth of projects for the development of Gorakhpur and Eastern Uttar Pradesh have been either inaugurated, or the foundation stone laid for them, today. He said these projects will improve ease of living. He said that schemes such as PM Awaas Yojana, Ujjwala Yojana, Ayushman Bharat etc are symbolic of the spirit of Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas.
