Mega infrastructure push in biodiverse Andaman and Nicobar Islands

Annual tourist arrivals are projected to grow from 98,000 in 2029 to 7.35 lakh by 2047, and exceed 10 lakh by 2055

Almost coinciding with the draft tribal welfare plan, the Andaman and Nicobar administration has released a draft master plan, Great Nicobar Island Development Area - 2047, outlining how the pristine island will be developed into a logistics, military and tourism hub over the next 25 years.

Over 166 sq km of land - roughly the size of the BBMP core area - will be required to develop infrastructure ranging from an international transshipment container port and airport to multiple power plants, four-lane roads, and luxury resorts and hotel, to be executed in four phases. The plan says this has been envisaged as "economic opportunities are limited" on the island, despite its "great potential for well-rounded sustainable development based on economic drivers like ICT port, tourism and entertainment". It also identifies finance, knowledge and wellness hubs as potential drivers. Covered with dense tropical evergreen forests, the Great Nicobar Island has a unique biodiversity, with a wide variety of flora and fauna, undulating terrain, perennial rivers and deep inlets and creeks. It hosts diverse forest systems, ranging from seasonal rainforests in the low hills to tropical mountain, riverine, orchid-rich and moist deciduous forests. Such natural abundance is bound to attract tourists. Pristine sandy beaches, scenic hills, forest-covered mountains and coconut plantations along the coastline make it a unique seaside destination, ideal for relaxation in an unexplored environment.

Annual tourist arrivals are projected to grow from 98,000 in 2029 to 7.35 lakh by 2047, and exceed 10 lakh by 2055. Great Nicobar's proximity to international tourist destinations such as the upcoming Senang City, the Phuket Island and Langkawi Island presents a great opportunity for tourism-oriented development, positioning the island on the global tourism map.

Alongside tourism, two other strategic infrastructures projects are central to the plan:
