CBSE unveils new exam format for class VI to IX

New Delhi, Mar 22
The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has unveiled new exam format for Class VI to IX and the board has done away with the Continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation, CCE scheme being followed in affiliated schools since 2009. It has replaced CCE with a uniform system of assessment and examination to be followed by its affiliated schools.

Schools will have to adhere to CBSE's template, from exams to report cards, which will now bear the logo of the board. The move will be implemented from the upcoming academic session. It became a necessity to have a new scheme of evaluation for classes 6 to 9 after Board's decision to restore board examinations for class 10. Disparities in the system were creating problems for students whenever they migrated to another school. Under the Continuous and Comprehensive Evaluation scheme, which was in place since 2009, the students were assessed based on two term-end summative assessments and four formative assessments. Sixty per cent of the assessment was written tests, while 40 per cent formative assessment during the year was continuous evaluation

2nd Year Remembrance

Smti. Susamma John
R/o Dundas Point
Times flies away as, if it has wings
We remember you for your beautiful and small things.
We wish heaven had a phone so we could hear ur voice again.

We thought of U today, but that is not new. We thought about U yesterday, and the day before too. We think of U in silence. We often speak UR name. All we have are memories and a photo in a frame. UR memory is a keepsake, from which we'll never part. God has you in his arms and we have U in our heart.

Hamilton looks for fast start to new season

Melbourne, Mar 22
Lewis Hamilton will look to put his stamp on the new Formula One season at this week's Australian Grand Prix, as he seeks to regain the world title following the shock retirement of reigning champion Nico Rosberg.

Ten years after his F1 debut at Albert Park, Hamilton arrives at the downtown circuit as the leading light of a sport now under new management and featuring wider and faster cars. Hamilton, 32, was beaten to last year's title by Mercedes team-mate Rosberg, who quit the sport five days later citing the intense pressures of competing. This year, Hamilton will be face renewed competition from Ferrari and Red Bull, who are expected to close the gap on dominant Mercedes, as well his new team-mate Valtteri Bottas of Finland.

Hamilton is revelling in the new generation of quicker cars, which coincides with American group Liberty Media's takeover and the exit of long-time ringmaster Bernie Ecclestone. "I'm finding the car is much more physical to drive than in the past," said Hamilton, who is seeking his fourth world title after victories in 2008, 2014 and 2015.

"It's so much faster in the corners. The force you feel on your body and on your neck is much higher. I've got bruises and bumps where I've never really had them before." An overhaul of technical regulations has ushered in wider cars with broader tyres, which are expected to be noisier and provide faster racing, but also put greater physical demands on the drivers.

British wrestler Chinu Sandhu gets four-year ban for doping violation

Great Britain, Mar 22
British freestyle wrestler Chinu Sandhu, who won bronze at the Commonwealth Games in 2014, has been handed a four-year ban for a doping violation.

Sandhu tested positive for an anabolic steroid in an out-of-competition test administered on September 20 and an independent National Anti-Doping Panel (NDAP) upheld the charge against him. The 29-year-old had contested the charge on the grounds that he had not acted intentionally and that the positive test resulted from taking a contaminated supplement.
