The Great Nicobar Holistic Development Initiative: A Strategic Confluence Of Global Trade, Sustainable Tourism And National Security

The vision for the Great Nicobar Island is being reshaped through an ambitious holistic development initiative that seeks to position this remote territory as a cornerstone of global tourism and maritime security. Located at the southernmost tip of the Indian archipelago, the island is recognized for its immense geopolitical importance, sitting in close proximity to major international shipping lanes. This infrastructure project, spearheaded by the central government, is designed to leverage the unique geographical advantages of the region while fostering sustainable growth. By integrating a transshipment port, an international airport, and a greenfield township, the landscape is being prepared for a significant socio-economic shift. The project is structured around four primary pillars that are intended to function in harmony to elevate the island's status. A massive international container transshipment terminal is planned, which is expected to capture a significant share of the cargo currently handled by neighboring international ports. This maritime hub is complemented by the development of a world-class international airport, designed to facilitate seamless connectivity for both passengers and high-value trade. Furthermore, a greenfield city is envisioned to provide the necessary housing and services for a growing population, while a dedicated power plant is being established to ensure the energy self-sufficiency of the entire complex.

The scale of this undertaking is reflected in the estimated investment of approximately 72,000 crore rupees. It is believed that such a substantial financial commitment will act as a catalyst for regional prosperity. The development is not merely seen as a local enhancement but as a strategic move to bolster India's presence in the Indo-Pacific region. By creating a robust economic engine in Great Nicobar, the reliance on external maritime hubs is expected to be reduced, (Contd. on last page)

PAWS initiative strengthened through Inter-Departmental collaboration to address Stray Animal Management

General public can report presence of stray animal in public spaces over Helpline No. 112

Sri Vijaya Puram, Dec. 28

In a major move to manage the stray dog population and enhance public safety, the Department of Animal Husbandry & Veterinary Services (AH&VS), in collaboration with the District Administration and the Department of Rural Development (RD), is actively implementing the PAWS (Partnering for Animal Welfare & Sterilization) initiative with the objective of promoting humane, scientific, and sustainable management of stray animal populations. As part of the PAWS Orientation-cum-

Training programme was conducted on July 25, 2025 which was attended by all the stakeholders including representatives of the District Administrations, Municipal Council, Rural Development Department, members of Tribal Council and PRI, College students among others.

While the responsibility for management and control of stray animals falls within the statutory purview of Panchayati Raj Institutions and Municipal bodies, the Department of AH&VS has voluntarily extended its support for undertaking essential veterinary and medical procedures, particularly Animal Birth Control (ABC), sterilization, and vaccination, as part of a coordinated and humane approach. As part of the initiative, during this month, two dedicated veterinary teams, operating under the leadership of Dr. Mohammed and Dr. Baljit Kaur, were deployed at Shaheed Dweep and Swaraj Dweep, respectively. The teams successfully covered 91 animals at Shaheed Dweep and 121 animals at Swaraj Dweep under the Animal Birth Control (ABC) programme and allied veterinary interventions.

thereby strengthening the national economy and ensuring more direct control over trade routes.

Environmental Stewardship and Conservation Efforts

A significant portion of the discourse surrounding the Great Nicobar development is focused on the preservation of its unique biodiversity. The island is home to several endemic species and vast tracts of tropical rainforest, which are protected under various environmental regulations. To address these concerns, comprehensive mitigation measures are being incorporated into the planning process. It is ensured that a large percentage of the island's landmass remains under forest cover, and specific zones are being demarcated to protect the nesting sites of the leatherback sea turtle.

Furthermore, a dedicated conservation plan for the Great Nicobar megapode is being implemented to ensure that the natural habitat of this rare bird is not irreparably harmed. Efforts are being made to balance the requirements of modern infrastructure with the ethical obligation to protect the environment. Afforestation projects are also being planned in other parts of the country to compensate for the diversion of forest land on the island. This approach is intended to maintain the ecological equilibrium while allowing for the necessary expansion of human enterprise.

Enhancing National Security and Geopolitical Stability

The strategic location of Great Nicobar, situated near the Malacca Strait, places it at the heart of one of the world's busiest maritime corridors. Consequently, the enhancement of security infrastructure on the island is viewed as a priority for national defense. The development of a dual-use airport and improved port facilities will allow for better monitoring of maritime traffic and a more rapid response to potential security threats. The island is being transformed into a vital outpost that can support the activities of the Indian Armed Forces in the Bay of Bengal and the wider Indian Ocean.

By establishing a permanent and robust presence in the region, the stability of international trade routes is expected to be enhanced. The project is seen as a deterrent to unauthorized activities in the surrounding waters, including illegal fishing and piracy. The integration of security considerations into the broader development framework ensures that the island serves as both an economic gateway and a protective shield for the nation's maritime interests.

Socio-Economic Opportunities for Local Communities

The influx of investment and the creation of new industries are expected to generate a wealth of opportunities for the inhabitants of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. Thousands of direct and indirect jobs are anticipated to be created during the construction and operational phases of the project. Vocational training programs are being considered to equip the local workforce with the skills required for roles in the maritime, tourism, and service sectors.

Tourism is identified as a major driver for future growth, with the island's pristine beaches and unique cultural heritage serving as significant attractions. Sustainable tourism models are being developed to ensure that the arrival of international visitors does not overwhelm the local infrastructure or damage the environment. By fostering a diverse economy, the dependence on traditional sectors is reduced, and a more resilient financial future for the islanders is secured. The improvement of healthcare, education, and digital connectivity is also a key component of the township's design, ensuring that the benefits of development are felt by all residents.

Modern Infrastructure and Technological Integration

The planned greenfield township is being designed as a smart city, utilizing the latest advancements in urban planning and sustainable technology. Renewable energy sources, such as solar and wind power, are being explored to supplement the island's energy needs. Waste management systems and water desalination plants are being integrated into the master plan to minimize the environmental footprint of the new urban center.

The digital infrastructure is also receiving significant attention, with the extension of undersea fiber-optic cables to provide high-speed internet access. This connectivity is essential for the operation of a modern transshipment port and for attracting global businesses to the island. By creating a technologically advanced environment, Great Nicobar is being positioned as a forward-looking destination that can compete with established international hubs. The synergy between high-tech infrastructure and the natural beauty of the island is intended to create a unique and desirable location for both residents and investors.

Long-term Vision for the Indo-Pacific Region

The transformation of Great Nicobar is viewed as a long-term commitment to the regional integration of the Indo-Pacific. By serving as a bridge between South Asia and Southeast Asia, the island is expected to play a pivotal role in regional diplomacy and economic cooperation. The project aligns with broader national policies aimed at enhancing connectivity and building strong partnerships with neighboring maritime nations.

As the development progresses, the island is likely to become a focal point for scientific research and environmental monitoring. The unique ecosystems of the region provide a living laboratory for studying climate change and marine biology. By hosting international research initiatives, Great Nicobar can contribute to the global understanding of these critical issues. In conclusion, the holistic development of the island is a multifaceted endeavor that seeks to harmonize economic growth, environmental protection, and national security, ultimately creating a sustainable and prosperous future for this strategic gateway. # Your Money, Your Right

Reclaiming Forgotten Financial Assets and Strengthening Citizen Ownership

Key Takeaways

“आपकी पूँजी, आपका अधिकार” – Your Money, Your Right is a nationwide awareness and facilitation initiative to help citizens identify and reclaim unclaimed financial assets.

The initiative addresses unclaimed savings across banks, insurance, mutual funds, dividends, shares and retirement benefits held within the regulated financial system.

Coordinated by the Department of Financial Services with financial sector regulators, the campaign combines digital portals with district-level facilitation.

Through coordinated efforts of Government departments, regulators and financial institutions, nearly Rs.2,000 crore has been returned to rightful owners.

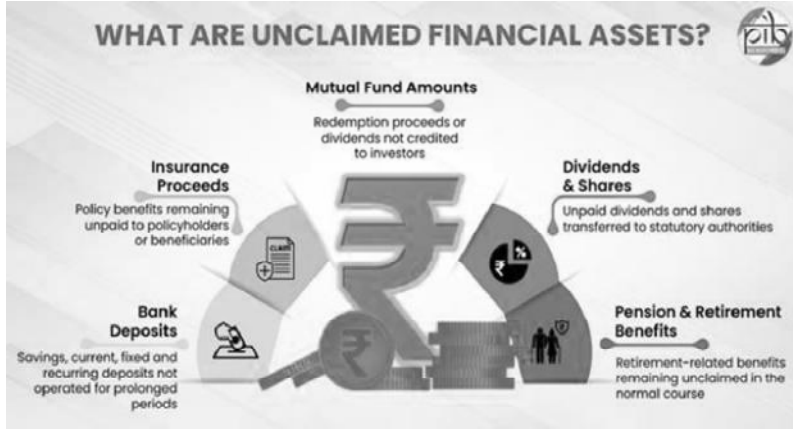

Across generations, Indian families have saved carefully through opening bank accounts, purchasing insurance policies, investing in mutual funds, earning dividends from shares and setting aside money for retirement. These financial decisions are taken with a hope and responsibility, often to secure children’s education, support healthcare needs, and ensure dignity in old age.

Yet, over time, a significant portion of these hard-earned savings has remained unclaimed. The money has not vanished, nor has it been misused. It lies safely with regulated financial institutions, separated from its rightful owners due to lack of awareness, outdated records, changes in residence, or missing documentation. In many cases, families are simply unaware that such assets exist.

Your Money, Your Right is a nationwide effort to reconnect citizens with these forgotten financial assets and ensure that money that belongs to individuals and families ultimately finds its way back to them.

What Are Unclaimed Financial Assets

Unclaimed financial assets arise when money held with financial institutions is not claimed by the account holder or their legal heirs for a prolonged period. Such assets include:

- ⇒ Bank deposits such as savings accounts, current accounts, fixed deposits and recurring deposits that have not been operated for ten years or more
- ⇒ Insurance policy proceeds that remain unpaid beyond the due date
- ⇒ Mutual fund redemption proceeds or dividends that could not be claimed due to reasons such as change in bank account, bank account closure, incomplete bank account in records etc.
- ⇒ Dividends and shares that remain unclaimed and are transferred to statutory authorities
- ⇒ Pension and retirement benefits that are not claimed within the normal course

In most cases, assets may become unclaimed because of routine life events such as migration for work, changes in contact details, closure of old bank accounts, or lack of information among family members and legal heirs.

The “Your Money, Your Right” Initiative

To address this challenge in a structured and citizen-centric manner, the Government launched the “आपकी पूँजी, आपका अधिकार” – Your Money, Your Right” initiative in October 2025 as a nationwide awareness and facilitation campaign.

The initiative is coordinated by the Department of Financial Services, Ministry of Finance, in collaboration with key financial sector fund regulators, including:

- ⇒ Reserve Bank of India (RBI)
- ⇒ Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI)
- ⇒ Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI)
- ⇒ Investor Education and Protection Fund Authority (IEPFA)
- ⇒ Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA)

The central objective is to help citizens identify, access and reclaim financial assets that legally belong to them, using simple processes and transparent systems.

The Scale of Unclaimed Money

The volume of unclaimed financial assets in India is significant and spans multiple segments of the formal financial system. Indicative estimates suggest that Indian banks together hold around Rs.78,000 crore in unclaimed deposits. Unclaimed insurance policy proceeds are estimated at nearly Rs.14,000 crore, while unclaimed amounts in mutual funds are about Rs.3,000 crore. In addition, unclaimed dividends account for around Rs.9,000 crore.

Together, these amounts underline the scale of unclaimed savings belonging to citizens that continue to remain unused, despite being securely held within the financial system.

Why Unclaimed Assets Matter

Unclaimed money is more than a financial statistic. For households, it may result in restricted or deferred access to funds needed for education, healthcare, livelihood support or emergencies. For senior citizens, it could involve pensions or insurance benefits that provide essential financial security.

At a systemic level, unclaimed assets weaken the connection between citizens and the formal financial system. When people are unable to access money that belongs to them, it affects trust, participation and confidence. Addressing this issue with “Your Money, Your Right” initiative strengthens not only household finances, but also the credibility and inclusiveness of financial

Digital Platforms for Tracing Unclaimed Assets

Unclaimed Bank Deposits – UDGM Portal

The UDGM portal, developed by the Reserve Bank of India, provides a central search facility for unclaimed bank deposits across participating banks in a centralized manner. While claims are settled by the respective banks, the portal helps citizens identify where unclaimed balances exist.

If a bank deposit remains unclaimed for ten years or more, it is transferred to the Depositor Education and Awareness Fund (DEA Fund). However, the money still belongs to the customer, and there is no time limit for the customer or their legal heirs to claim it.

The portal can be accessed at: <https://udgam.rbi.org.in/unclaimed-deposits/#/login>

Insurance Proceeds – Bima Bharosa Portal

The Bima Bharosa portal enables individuals to trace unclaimed insurance policy proceeds. It allows policyholders, nominees and legal heirs to check whether any insurance amounts are due to them by providing links to the enquiry pages of insurers.

An insurance amount is treated as unclaimed when it remains unpaid beyond twelve months from the due date. Insurance proceeds that remain unclaimed for more than ten years are transferred to the Senior Citizens’ Welfare Fund (SCWF) maintained by the Government. Such transfer does not affect ownership rights, and beneficiaries continue to retain the right to claim the amount, up to 25 years from the date of transfer.

Policyholders, nominees or legal heirs may approach the concerned insurer to initiate claims even after transfer to the SCWF, in accordance with prescribed procedures. There is no fee for claiming unclaimed insurance proceeds.

The framework also encourages preventive measures, including updating contact details, registering and updating nominations, informing family members about insurance policies, and maintaining physical or digital records of policy documents, including through platforms such as DigiLocker. The policies can also be linked to Aadhaar and PAN for easy identification.

The portal can be accessed at: <https://bimabharosa.irdai.gov.in/>

Mutual Fund Investments – MITRA Portal

The Mutual Fund Investment Tracing and Retrieval Assistant (MITRA), hosted on MF Central, enables investors to trace unclaimed and inactive mutual fund investments. The platform allows investors to identify the mutual fund in which such investments may be held, using the prescribed search parameters.

Folio number is a unique identification number provided by mutual fund institutions to their investors in order to track their assets in a certain scheme.

Mutual fund amounts remain unclaimed when redemption, maturity proceeds, or dividends are not credited to the investor’s bank account due to reasons such as changes or closure of bank accounts, incomplete records, outdated contact details, or pending KYC compliance.

In such cases, the money is not lost; on the due date, it is transferred to designated unclaimed schemes, where it remains until it is claimed. Additionally, a mutual fund folio is treated as inactive if the investor does not make any transaction for ten years, even though unit balance is available in the folio.

MITRA facilitates the identification of unclaimed or inactive investments, after which investors may contact the concerned Asset Management Company (AMC) or Registrar and Transfer Agent (RTA) to initiate the claim process.

The framework also emphasizes preventive measures, encouraging investors to keep KYC details, bank account information and contact records updated, and to regularly review account statements to avoid future instances of unclaimed investments.

The portal can be accessed at: <https://app.mfcentral.com/investor/signin>

Dividends and Shares – IEPFA Portal

Unclaimed dividends and shares are transferred by companies to the Investor Education and Protection Fund Authority (IEPFA) after remaining unpaid or unclaimed for a continuous period of seven years. The IEPFA portal provides a search facility that allows individuals to trace unclaimed dividends, shares or deposits by entering details such as PAN, Name or Company Name & Demat ID/Folio Number.

There is no charge for filing a claim with the IEPFA, and there is no specific time limit for claiming amounts transferred to the Fund. The rightful claimant can apply for a refund at any point after the transfer has been made.

The portal can be accessed at:

<https://www.iepf.gov.in/content/iepf/global/master/Home/Home.html>

Taking the Initiative to the Ground

The “Your Money, Your Right” initiative places strong emphasis on direct citizen outreach, combining digital platforms with structured on-ground engagement to ensure wide and inclusive coverage across the country.

Launched in October 2025, the initiative was implemented as a three-month nationwide drive from October to December 2025, covering every State and Union Territory. The campaign is anchored in the 3A Framework – Awareness, Accessibility and Action, with the objective of enabling citizens to identify, access and reclaim their rightful savings through simple and transparent processes.

From October until 19th December 2025, facilitation camps were organized in 668 districts. These camps witnessed active participation from public representatives, district administrations, and officials from banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions, ensuring coordinated and effective service delivery at the local level.

⇒ The camps were conducted through State-Level Bankers’ Committees and State-Level Insurance Committees, in coordination with lead district banks and local administrations.

⇒ Citizens were assisted through helpdesks and digital kiosks to check for unclaimed financial assets and initiate claims conveniently.

⇒ Citizens were also encouraged to enrol under financial inclusion schemes and complete KYC and re-KYC formalities, thereby strengthening their link with the formal financial system.

District-Level Outcome

District-level implementation translated national objectives into measurable outcomes at the local level. Dormant and unclaimed financial accounts were identified, claims were initiated, and funds were restored to beneficiaries in multiple instances, including through on-the-spot settlements during outreach activities. The participation of banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions on a common platform enabled coordinated service delivery, simplified citizen interaction and reduced procedural delays.

Progress Achieved

The coordinated efforts of Government departments, regulators and financial institutions yielded tangible results during the course of the campaign. Nearly Rs.2,000 crore was returned to rightful owners, reconnecting families with financial assets that had remained unclaimed for extended periods.

In addition to financial recovery, the initiative contributed to improved awareness around nominations, documentation and record-keeping, supporting more effective financial planning at the household level.

Conclusion

“आपकी पूँजी, आपका अधिकार” – Your Money, Your Right is a focused and citizen-centric initiative that reconnects individuals and families with financial assets that rightfully belong to them. By combining awareness, simplified access and coordinated facilitation, the initiative addresses a long-standing gap in the financial system and ensures that unclaimed savings are identified and returned to their rightful owners.

At a broader level, the initiative strengthens trust in financial institutions, reinforces financial inclusion and promotes responsible financial practices. By ensuring that personal savings remain accessible, protected and transferable, Your Money, Your Right contributes to a more transparent, responsive and citizen-first financial ecosystem.
