PM calls for targeted subsidies; questions tax incentives for corporate

New Delhi, Jan 30
Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi has called for targeted subsidies and reforms that transform the lives of the poor and questioned tax incentives for corporate. He said, people's welfare should be the basic foundation of any economic reform and the true reforms are those, which lead to transform their lives. Addressing Economic Times Global Business Summit in New Delhi Friday evening, Shri Modi said, his aim is not to eliminate subsidies but to rationalize and target them. He said, some subsidies might be necessary to protect the poor and the needy and give them a fair chance to succeed. The Prime Minister asked why is it that subsidies going to the well-off are portrayed in a positive manner? Shri Modi also took a dig at experts for seeking an overhaul of India's subsidy regime while remaining silent on incentives for the well off that often distort the tax system.
