PM addresses National Handloom Day celebration; Calls upon people to reaffirm their commitment to popularise local products

New Delhi, Aug. 7 Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi today said that Vocal for Local has become a mass movement which has given a new impetus to the textile sector in the country. Addressing the 9th National Handloom Day celebration today at Bharat Mandapam in Pragati Maidan, Delhi, Shri Modi said that the schemes that have been initiated in the textile sector bring justice to weavers and artisans. The Prime Minister also urged the people to reaffirm their commitment to popularise local products on National Handloom Day. Prime Minister, Shri Modi said that India's vibrant handlooms exemplify the country's diversity. He said that the government's endeavour is to give wings to the aspirations of children of those associated with handlooms and handicrafts. Shri Modi said that to promote the handloom industry, the government is giving loans without guarantee and providing raw material for the handloom weavers at discount rates.

Talking about the GEM portal, he said that now every small enterprise can sell their project on GEM directly. He added that at present, 1.75 lakh MSMEs are associated with GEM portal. He mentioned that the government is working to set up 'Ekta Mall' across the country to increase the sale of handicraft products of all other states. Prime Minister, Shri Modi said through the 'One District, One Product', initiative has been launched to promote the unique products of different districts. Shri Modi
